

VALENTINA CANO

Flaws

Distance, plates brimming with it, filled the table in front of us.
I poked at a piece of lettuce while your eyes searched for the flaws in the tablecloth's weaving.
I could have told you where they were with my eyes shut.

ABOUT VALENTINA CANO

Valentina Cano is a student of classical singing who spends whatever free time she has either writing or reading. Her works have appeared in Exercise Bowler, Blinking Cursor, Cartier Street Press, Berg Gasse 19, Precious Metals, A Handful of Dust, The Scarlet Sound, The Adroit Journal, Perceptions Literary Magazine, Welcome to Wherever, The Corner Club Press, Death Rattle, Danse Macabre, and Subliminal Interiors, among others. You can find her online at carabosseslibrary.blogspot.com.

