

ANDREA POTOS

---

After Greece

Sleep becomes a landscape deep and high like the mountain village that bred my grandfather, the green-silver slopes of fir and pine, fig and pomegranate and olive groves, the snow scattering over the peaks against a sky, the stars that could light up the stones at night.

ABOUT ANDREA POTOS

---

Andrea Potos is the author of New Girl (Anchor & Plume 2014), An Ink Like Early Twilight (Salmon Poetry 2015), and Coffee in Greece (Anchor & Plume 2016). Her poetry has also appeared in Poetry East, Mom Egg Review, Atlanta Review, and The Main Street Rag, as well as The Doll Collection, a themed anthology. She received a JBA in journalism from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. A bookseller, she lives in Madison, Wisconsin.

